To remove materials containing asbestos from workplaces such as commercial, industrial or demolition sites, you must be trained to do so and you must hold a Class A or Class B asbestos removal licence from the Department of Justice and Attorney-General.

Workplace Health and Safety Inspectors from the Department of Justice and Attorney-General Queensland investigate and regulate risks and complaints to do with asbestos removal.

If you think anyone is unsafely handling, removing or transporting asbestos materials, phone Workplace Health and Safety Queensland on 1300 362 128.

Please contact Council's customer service centre if you need further information.
